The Crittenden Press

ISSUED WEEKLY.

R. C. WALKER, Publisher.

Congratulations to Gov. Brown.

Paducah will have a stock show and races Oct 14, 15 and 16th.

The Tennessee Legislature is trying to settle the convict question.

Mr. Hatley, Gov. Brown's Secretary of State, is a native of Webster county.

Campbell and McKinley, the two champions of the Ohio campaign, are to meet on the stump.

It seems to be conceded by all that Crittenden county cannot or will not support a fair.

The Census Commissioner has figured the exact number of people in this country to be 62,622,260.

At a meeting of the Democratic State Committee of Indiana it was developed that that body was for Cleveland as the standard-bearer of '02.

Mr. Harrison has announced, it is said, that he will not be a candidate for the Republican nomination next year, provided Mr. Blaine wants the honor. It is a case of get out of the way or be crushed.

The Constitutional Convention reassembled endorsed by the people. The work now on hands is to correct errors in verbiage, dispose of trivial inconsistencies and promulgate the document as the constitution.

Mr. Harrison has announced, it is said, that he will not be a candidate for the Republican nomination next year, provided Mr. Blaine wants the honor. It is a case of get out of the way or be crushed.

On the last day of his official career, Gov. Buckner was presented with a handsome solid silver herry bowl by the State officials and clerks who have been in office during the Governor's administration. He was popular with the officials as well as with the people. He retires to private life with the benedictions of all.

An ex-Kentucky school teacher named Burton was found with a bullet hole in his head near Albuquerque, N. M., a few days ago. He leaves a record made red by the blood of eighteen men he had killed. He had never attempted to teach any the many fangled studies added in recent years to the common school branches, or his record might have included more victims.

The ex-Confederal soldier Gov. Buckner made an ex-Federal soldier Mat. Adams Secretary of State, supported him for Clerk of the Court of Appeals and now that his term as Secretary of State has expired, he steps into the Commissioner ship of Railroads by appointment of the retiring Governor. Those who are ever ready to cry out that ex-Federal soldiers are boycotted by Kentucky Democrats should pause this in their hats.

Will Webster county claim the Democratic nominee for State Senator next time? This is a question frequently propounded, and we would like to hear from the Webster Citizen on the question.—Crittenden Press.

We think we can truthfully answer our neighbor that the Democracy of Webster will make no nomination for a home man next time. The good and true Democrats of Webster are still imbued with the spirit of fairness and gratitude, and only want their dues. Our candidate was defeated. His own county defeated him, but the untimely Democrats did all in their power to elect him. A fusion of the Third parties and Republicans defeated him. Circumstances were against us, and as a result we are in the "soup." It will be Crittenden's time to name the next Senator, and Webster Democrats will stick to him to a man.—Webster Citizen.

The words of our neighbor are like "pictures of gold in frames of silver." Crittenden extends her sympathy to the untimely of Webster, and with the proud consciousness of having discharged her duty, she accepts the situation.

GOVERNOR BROWN.

Inaugurated With Imposung Ceremonies.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 1.—Kentucky's new governor, the Hon. John Young Brown, was sworn in today at noon. The business portion of the city and the old fashion State House were decorated with flags and bunting, and everything wore a holiday luster; and everything wore a holiday luster. The ceremonies took place on a platform erected by the citizens of Frankfort in the State House yard. An immense throng of people witnessed the ceremonies. The military and civic displays were grand. Promptly at twelve o'clock the oath of office was administered by chief justice Holt.

The new governor's cabinet is: James W. Headly, of Louisville, Secretary of State; Col. S. A. Norman, of Graves county, Assistant Secretary of State; Capt. A. J. Gross, of Breckinridge county, Adjutant General; Mr. A. D. Brown, of Henderson, has been offered the private Secretaryship, but has not yet accepted.

The inaugural address of the new Governor was short and to the point. It was as follows:

"I am here in the presence of this vast multitude to take the oath of office as the Chief Magistrate of our great and beloved Commonwealth of Kentucky. It is not an appropriate occasion for an elaborate address, and my remarks shall be brief.

"To those who have by their suffrage bestowed upon me this exalted trust, my heart is overflowing with the profoundest gratitude. I am proud of the honor I bear; yet it is with humility and diffidence and distrust of my ability to fill the measure of its manifold and solemn responsibilities that I assume the discharge of this duty.

"I here make the vow to consecrate to the faithful discharge of my official duties all of the powers of my mind and energies of my body, invoking the guidance of Almighty God and the charitable judgments of my fellow citizens upon my acts, heeding Kentuckians to have faith always in the rectitude of my intentions.

"In so far as is committed to me the guardianship of the rights of the citizens and honor of the State, I shall keep vigilant watch, and discharge my official duties in a way that I shall believe will best promote the public welfare and I shall act without fear or favor. I intend to do what I believe to be right, without any selfish regard to consequences.

"The welfare of a free State depends upon the maintenance of the supremacy of its laws. To the law-abiding these laws are a shield; to the malefactors they should be a sword. The certainty of punishment for crime is the surest restraint of the vicious. There should not be careless interference by the Chief Executive with the judgments of courts. The injunction of the constitution is that 'he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.'

"The glittering and priceless jewels of liberty are clustered in our Bill of Rights. In it is declared that all power is inherent in the people, and all free governments are founded on their authority, and instituted for their peace, safety, happiness and protection of property. The officers of the State are but the temporary agents of the people, and public servants in the exercise of power should never forget their duties and obligations to their masters, who have made and can unmake them.

"The people want honesty in public officials, and firmness in the assertion of right, and in public expenditures the strictest economy consistent with an efficient public service. There should be vigilance to detect and courage to expose any fraudulent and corrupt practices among the officials of the Commonwealth.

"Mingled martial and civil glories crown the past of Kentucky's history. Her present rank in the sisterhood of States is majestic. In peace and war she has asserted herself, and to day is imposing in her power, exhaustless in her resources and matchless in her renown.

"With good laws and honest administration of the affairs of the Commonwealth, we should move onward to the realization of the glowing promises the future new reveals. Let her officials not for a moment forget their obligations and responsibilities to the people; let the people stand by the constitution and the laws, and I trust that all will be well for every class of our citizens. "Mr. Chief Justice Holt, I am now ready to take the oath of office."

Forty Old Men.

The Press is indebted to Mr. J. H. Walker for the following list of names of Crittenden county's forty oldest citizens. The figures at the right is the age of each. There is probably no man in the county more conversant with its early history, especially in a biographical way, than Mr. Walker. There are very few of the old families whose history for generations is not stored away in his remarkably retentive memory.

Chesnut Hood, 90; J. S. Grady, 88; Joel Moore, 87; Ephraim W. Hill, 86; Henry Walker, 85; Silas Corum, 85; Thomas Wright, 84; Timothy Taylor, 84; Burton Ford, 84; Hugh Board, 83; E. H. Croft, 83; G. F. Clement, 82; Gatesfield Farley, 82; P. C. Barnett, 81; Mathew Hughes, Chesley Nunn, 80; Reuben Cook, 80; Joshua Kemp, 80; Basil Butler, 79; Edward Dority, 79; James King, 79; John Hovey, 79; J. H. Hawkins, 78; Edmond Holcom, 78; J. G. Nations, 78; Leander Hughes, 77; Isaac Sisco, 77; U. G. Witherspoon, 77; Chapel Nunn, 77; Watson Wood, 77; A. J. Hill, 76; W. P. ### Colored Teacher's Institute.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.
Laura Bigham gave and illustrated by class, her method of teaching in a prominent debate on subjects from the syllabus.

THURSDAY.

M. W. Thurmon explained his method of teaching oral lessons in history; he said he would teach it systematically. Adella Pippin discussed geography.

R. C. Waddle discussed oral instructions in civil government, and was followed by Leonora Johnson on same subject. S. L. Rutter introduced the subject of the text book course; several teachers participated in the discussion. Subjects selected in the syllabus were discussed.

FRIDAY.

The theory and practice of teaching was elaborately discussed by various teachers, J. C. Stone having opened the discussion.

The duties of school officers came in for a large share of discussion. R. C. Waddle opened the subject and the teachers all had more or less to say.

The committee on resolutions reported the following which were adopted, and the colored institute adjourned sine die.

RESOLUTIONS.

We, the Committee on Resolutions here leave to submit the following report:

RESOLVED, That we the teachers of Crittenden county in Institute assembled, tender to the citizens of Marion our sincere thanks for the courtesy and kindness extended us during our present session.

RESOLVED, That our heartfelt thanks are due those friends who have manifested such interest in education as to favor us with their presence. And that we respectfully invite their influence in the future.

RESOLVED, That our gratitude is hereby offered W. J. Deboe our worthy Superintendent, and G. W. Perry, our ex-Superintendent, for their faithful duty in regard to their attention in conducting our Institute.

RESOLVED, That we also express our thanks to the officers of the Institute; to the president for his prompt action and impartial rulings, and secretary for correct records.

RESOLVED, That we express our gratitude to the Methodist church for their kindness in granting us permission to use their church; and to the editor of the Press for kindly granting us space in his paper to publish the proceedings from Monday to Wednesday; and to the following trustees for their presence: Messrs. John Suicer, John Todd, Frank Gray, E. Graves, James Terry, Ed Threot, John Clark, Jos. Kennedy and P. Smallwood.

R. C. Waddle, Ch'm
ADELLA PIPPIN, Sec'y.
LAURA BIGHAM.

COUNTY CORRESPONDENCE.

Levas.

The protracted meeting at New Salem closed Monday night. The Christians were revived but no conversions during the meeting.

Wm. Corum, of Golconda, Ill., was here Sunday. He has "an eye for the beautiful" which is gratified in our little burg.

School was opened at Union last Monday under the supervision of Miss Lizzie Hardin. Now let the patrons show their appreciation of an education by giving their children the necessary opportunities.

J. H. Price has sold his farm to Wm. Grimes at $8 per acre.

Price & Co. are receiving a great deal of dried fruit, and they pay the highest market price in trade and cash.

W. J. Fuller is rebuilding and re-covering his residence.

A C Barnes and Henry Franklin attended the Shawneetown fair last week.

Chas Coons, jr, is quite sick.

The road overseers are now receiving the usual "round of applause" for the faithful discharge of their duties. This much abused and unremunerated class of public benefactors surely have their reward.

We think public opinion needs re-constructing on this subject, and lets give them hearty co-operation and good will in this important work.

E B Franklin and J A Davidson attended the Soldiers Reunion at Golconda last week.

W A Davidson and mother, of Hampton, are visiting relatives here this week.

Simon Franklin is preparing to build a handsome residence.

Mr. J. H. Price is expected to return to Sept. 1st. Will you remember that promise and make it good? We expect you to come forward now and settle, and trust you will not disappoint us.

Apple cuttings are a favorite social pastime with the young folks now.

Weston.

The Girtle Poole finished loading its barge with ties at Oahagan's landing Saturday and steamed away.

Cook Bros finished loading one barge with rock and will load a will load another for Henry De Bus, A. P. Shanks went to Tolu Saturday to visit his sister, Mrs. J. W. Guess.

It is rumored that two ladies in our town agreed to disagree, and came to blows about the matter, as I prefer staying here a while longer, you will excuse me for omitting the names, Mr. Editor.

We understand that J. L. Rankin has been negotiating with E. M. McKee, of Ford's Ferry, and a Tolu firm for one of their stores. Should he consummate a trade, Weston would miss him; he has been a popular and successful merchant here for years.

Rufus Brooks was arrested last week, charged with stealing M. Gahagan's skiff, and was taken to jail Lee Brooks, whose name is also connected with the affair, has skipped.

J. C. Lofton returned from Carmi, Ill., Saturday.

Pecan and walnut crop is promising.

J. N. Smith was in Caseyville last week.

The colored politicians of Indiana want some of the administration pie. They held a meeting at Indianapolis last week and passed resolution expressive of the voracity of their appetites. They are going to have something or know the whyness of the wherefore.

Lone Cherry.

The late rains, and wind storms have seriously injured the crops. A great deal of corn is on the ground.

The women of the neighborhood are busy canning, drying and preserving fruit.

The farmers have begun plowing for wheat, they contemplate sowing a large acreage this season.

ing two weeks with the family of Mr T C Guess.

Our circuit clerk, Henry Rapoles and family are visiting relatives and friends in this vicinity.

Mr. Joshua Wolfe is attending school in Lexington, Ky. He will assist in the Hampton academy this winter.

Mrs M. R. Githam and daughter, Miss Ada, are the guests of Mrs. Rob. Woods.

Two of the "Lone Cherry Kids" attended prayer meeting at Pinkneyville last Sunday night.

John Wirt and Oscar Pierce will leave our midst soon, they will return to Bethel College at Russellville.

Revs. T. C. Carter and W. C. Pierce, will assist pastor J. N. Robinson in a series of meetings at Pinkneyville church, beginning the fifth Sunday in this month. Prayer meeting at the church Thursday night.

Road working Wednesday and Thursday. The roads are needing a thorough working.

Mrs. Pet Hodge and Mrs. Dobson visited their parents in Lyon county last week.

Our Pinkneyville correspondent, W. C. C. is a little hard on our "Lone Cherry kids," simply because we wished to correct a mistake he made in his article, "A trip to Grotto de Hodge," he becomes sarcastic, and thinks or pretends to, that we wanted our names given, when we only thought it due us, and nearer the facts, to have stated that Lone Cherry as well as Pinkneyville was represented in the trip to the cave.

However we will not quarrel about that longer, but must criticize his slang phrases in his letter of last week. It is a little strange that one who can command good language, is a graduate of a law school, and an instructor of the children in the neighborhood, should condescend to use such bad English.

Eva Emelin.

New Salem.

Some sickness in the neighborhood.

Corn and tobacco that was not destroyed by the late flood is doing finely.

It is estimated that the farmers between Lee Whites and Jasper Rileys, on Claylick creek, lost by the late floods between three and five thousand dollars.

Will Davidson and mother, of Hampton, are visiting friends and relatives in this section.

Boh Hardy has gone to Illinois to school.

Freeman Thornsbury has gone to his home in Missouri.

Aunt Pass Stewart, of Emmaus, is visiting in this section.

James Shreaves is in this section. Mr. Shreaves has been doing some land trading since his arrival.

R S Threlkeld and W G Fuller are erecting residences.

Rev Wm Kingsolving, of Lyon county, preached at New Salem Sunday night.

Mrs Joicy Tyner is spending a week with her daughter, Mrs. Harris, of Carverville.

Preparations are being made for a large wheat crop.

Eq E H Taylor spent some days last week with his children at Hurrican; he reports crops fine on the river.

Handy Brown was kicked by a vicious horse Sunday, and this county came near losing a mighty good man.

The meeting has closed at New Salem. There was a good meeting and a general warming up among the christians, but no professions of religion.

The veteran hunter, John Tyner, will leave shortly for his annual hunt in the wilds of Arkansas.

Salem.

Not seeing anything in your paper from our little town for several weeks I thought I would step in and inquire the reason. Has our correspondent grown weary in well doing? We ought to be represented every week.

Our school will commence next Monday with Professor Chas. Evans Principal, assisted by Miss Alice Browning. They are both natives of Salem, and we predict a good school, the first for two years. We believe in supporting home teachers, as well as all other home institutions, if they are worthy. Professor Evans graduated a few weeks ago at the Lebanon, Ohio, Normal school. Miss Martha Grassham graduated at the same institution, procuring diplomas in the B. S. & S. degrees and also in the business course. We congratulate late her on her splendid achievements, and commend her as a worthy example for others to follow. She has accepted a position in a high school in Alabama at a fair salary and left on the 2nd for that State.

She has the best wishes of our people for her success. Miss Joe McKernan and Blanton Hoyt also attended the same institution of learning—the latter graduating in the business course. He expects to teach the Elm Grove school this winter. We trust the patrons will give him their hearty co-operation in making the school a success.

Bro. J B Lowey organized a C P church at this place last week with 14 members. There are others that will likely join soon.

Bro Carter preached here Sunday and Sunday night. As usual he preached very interesting and instructive sermons. He is an earnest, faithful christian worker, and a favorite with all denominations. He had one accession to his church here Sunday night.

Bro W C Pierce, one of Livingston's accomplished young preachers, in connection with Brothers Carter and Robinson, is carrying on a series of meetings at Pinkneyville church. He is a fluent speaker and an earnest christian worker. We predict for him a bright future.

Charlie Daniels, Bro Ligon and Miss Tommy Davidson are on the sick list this week.

Our town goes dry this week.

Now is the time to work the roads, and get them in fix for winter, and we hope the overseers throughout the county will so think and act.

Robert Willer, a young man living near Waverly, went before the grand jury in session at Morganfield last week and by voluntary confession cleared up the mystery surrounding the killing of McMichael at the Union county Fair. Willer owned that he had shot him, but accidentally. He said that he was in the ladies room of the amphitheatre changing his pistol from his hip pocket to his inside coat pocket. The weapon was discharged, and piercing the wall of the room, entered the back of the unfortunate McMichael. The grand jury indicted Willer for carrying concealed weapons, but found no bill against him for man slaughter.—Henderson Journal.

Lightning struck a stock barn on the farm of Mr. G. W. Blackwell, near Clay last week, and the building and its contents were destroyed. The barn was a large one and had been built but a short while. It contained all of Mr. Blackwell's farm machinery, and a large amount of hay was stored in it. The loss will probably exceed $1,200.—Webster Citizen.

Cash and cash only gets school books. I am selling this year cheaper than ever, and the cash must come when the books go. Don't ask for credit, because I can't buy the books without the cash. I am selling at cash prices, not at credit prices.

It. C. Walker.

Hay is still as fruit jars and lots of country bacon, hard and new country sorghum. Bring in your onions.

I still have plenty of the Mason seal sealing fruit jars, and gallon stone jars.

"Look me in the face! My name is 'Might-have-been' I am also 'No more,' 'Too-late,' 'Farwell!'"

The poet who wrote the above, must have been in the laager of consumption. Perhaps he had only assumed, for the first time, that if he had taken Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical his present hopeless condition? What can he more sad than a keen realization of what "might have been?"

Physicians now admit that consumption is simply scrofula in the blood attacking the lung tissues. It is never safe to allow the blood to remain impure, and it is especially reckless, when such a pleasant, harmless remedy as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will drive every taint of scrofula or impurity from the system, causing a current of healthy, rejuvenating blood to leap through the veins.

"Despise not the day of small things," as the tiny pill (taken from a vial of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pills) said to the 300 pound man, suffering from indigestion. As a gentle thorough laxative, these Pills resemble Nature more closely in their action than anything before discovered. Business and professional men, whose habits are sedentary, need something of this kind to ward off sick headache, biliousness and dyspepsia, but which will not strain and rack the digestive organs as did the old-fashioned pills. 25 cents per vial, at all drug stores.

County Court Orders.

Rev. Ed H. Mott was authorized to solemnize the rites of matrimony.

J. W. Adams executed bond as Jailer of Crittenden county. His bondsmen are A. A. Deboe, T. J. Yandell, J. W. Mabry and P. H. Deboe.

John Farmer, col., was by consent of his father bound to D. W. Carter, of Gray, Kentucky, qualified as constable of Harrison county. His bondsmen are J. W. Guess and H. S. Clark.

The following road overseers were appointed: C E Torrey, Geo Thompson, and A Wood. Their term expires Oct. 1st.

rently rumored.

A J. P. Pickett is occupying his new residence—one of the best and prettiest in town.

Mr. T. N. Lamb and wife, of Savannah, Tenn., are visiting friends in Marion.

All parties who had pictures made by Louis Walker will please call at this office for same.

F. E. Robertson & Co., shipped five barrels of "Old Hickory" to Montgomery City, Mo., Monday.

Jacob Held, jr. relieved Mr. Ashby as store keeper and ganger at F.
E. Robertson & Co., Monday.

I simply ask you to try one of the Kingham Canvas hams. They are the best in town. Schwab.

R. H. Adams preached to large congregations at the Presbyterian church Sunday and Sunday night.

Parties indebted to the late firm of Cruse Bros., will save cost by coming forward and settling in ten days.

John Parr is responsible for the statement that a bear has been seen along the creek bottoms on the Dowell place.

The trustees of Dycusburg refused to grant saloon licenses. It is whispered that possibly there may be a whisky fight in the courts over the matter.

Mr. Lambert, of Union county, was in this county last week looking at some farms in the hands of Walker & Rochester. He was well pleased and will probably buy.

The Academy opened Monday with 187 on the roll. Every thing moved off splendidly and this promise to be a flourishing term for the school.

There now only six paupers at the poor house, and two of them are out on a visit. There are four men, one white woman and one colored woman.

"Diamonds cut diamonds" was the greeting the boys gave Harry Carnahan and Geo. Conyers while the two were "swapping" horses Monday.

There is no use to bring in your fruit just half dry, as I will not take it at any price. I cannot handle it.
I want all your fruit if dry and will pay you the highest market price for it in cash. Schwab.

R. H. Kemp went to Evansville
Wednesday.

No. 1 good bacon 8 1/2 cents a pound
in lots; 9 cents by the small; the best country lard 7 1/2 cents. Schwab.

A masquerade party at the residence of Judge J. A. Moore's Saturday night was one of the most pleasant affairs of the season.

Mr. B. P. Tucker, who has been section boss on the O. V. on the section at this place, has been given charge of the work train. John Beli is section boss.

You will save money by buying clover, timothy and red top seed of Schwab.

The last two weeks the Board of Pension Examiners had only two applicants for examination: Peter McDowell, of Lela, and Bluford
Potts, of Bordley.

Sam Hurst returned from the new state of Washington Saturday. He will not emigrate, he thinks Crittenden is as good as any country, when all things are considered.

We have now received a very large lot of clean red top millet seed, seed is advancing rapidly and if you want the advantage of low prices come at once. Schwab.

No use to bring in your dried peaches; I won't buy them at any price. M. Schwab.

Lost—Between my farm and Marion, on public road, Thursday, Aug.
27, a razor. The finder will be paid for his trouble by returning the razor to me. G. D. Sammerville.

There is a small strike on the O.
V. that promises to interfere with the freight trains. The road officials gave an order that whenever a freight train was taken into Princeton the crow should do certain switching.
The first crow that went in refused to do the work and was discharged.
Their fellow switchmen took up the fight and demanded the reinstatement of the discharged men, refusing to work unless the matter was adjusted.

Crittenton Springs Hotel was closed last week. The patronage this season was fairly good; the object in closing out early is to improve for next year. Among the things that will be done this fall is the construction of a large lake, covering ten acres of ground. The lake will be watered from a fine spring, and will cover the ground where the garden is this year. The proprietor is determined to make the place one of great beauty and no pains will be spared in accomplishing this end.

A gentlemen dropped into our office Monday and remarked that the Marion and Salem public road was being put in a better condition than ever before. The overseer, he said, deserved credit for the interest they are taking in the work and the good judgment they are exercising.
Charlie Laithe has put in two days and will work the hands a week or get things in the proper shape; Sam Pattor is stirring things just right and Geo. Foster proposes to have a good road or work until Christmas.
Let the good work go on.

The gate receipts of the fair last week were over $6000; the privileges sold for $1700 and several hundred dollars were paid in entrance fees.
Therefore it was a successful financially and the company doubtless cleared $3000.—Morganfield Sun.

Messrs. J. O. W. O. and J. S.
Pierce, sons of Mr. J. A. Pierce, of Livingston county, passed through Marion Wednesday, going to Russellville to attend college. Mr.
Pierce has four more sons at home preparing for Bethel college and one graduated last year.

The Stinson Bros., of Enfield, Ill., have purchased Mrs. A. Wolff's stock of goods at this place. The purchasers will move the goods to their place of business. Since the above was put in type, there has been a "back down" on the part of some of the parties connected with the trade.

A local board of the Kentucky Building and Loan Association was organized in Marion last week with S. D. Swope, pres., H. F. Ray, vice-pres., C. J. Pierce, sec'y. H. H.
Loving, treas., W. L. Cruse, att'y.
Ninety shares were sold. This makes the fourth association with local branches in Marion.

The wife of Mr. Sam Brown, of the Dycusburg neighborhood, left him rather suddenly Saturday. Our informant says they were attending camp-meeting at Kuttawa when an old lover of the fickle wife appeared upon the scene, and the two left together and left a miserable man behind. Mr. Brown married in this county some time ago, and was united to the runaway wife just two weeks after his first wife was buried.

Grave Yard.

PROHIBITION WINS.

Judge Givens Dissolves the Injunction But Gives Fifteen Days for the Court of Appeals to Decide the Question.

Friday Messrs Nunn & Cruse,
representing the distillers of this place, and Messrs Blue & Blue, representing the prohibitionists, went to Morganfield to present to Circuit Judge Givens the injunction and mandamus suits brought by the distillers to stay the local option law.
The case was argued Friday and Judge Givens delivered his opinion Saturday. He refused to grant the mandamus, and dissolved the injunction; the plaintiffs asked for an appeal to the Court of Appeals, and Judge Givens gave them fifteen days in which to get the case before the highest court of the State, and for two weeks longer the distillers will do business at the old stand. The decision of the appellate court will be waited for with great interest in the community, as it is a final settlement of the long drawn war fight.

It is announced that Mr. W. P.
McClain, a bright young lawyer of Henderson, will make the race for the office of Commonwealth Attorney against Col. Powell. The man that can defeat Powell will have to be a Moses indeed; he don't live in the district nor has he lived in it for forty years. Powell's powers as a prosecutor, and his warm, generous nature as a man render him simply invincible.

FACTS

Which Cannot Be Controverted.

In looking for the inevitable remember that Schwab has the newest, prettiest and cheapest furniture.
If you need a cheap chair or a fine rocking, a little lounge or a big bed,
a small wash-stand or a fine dresser, or any other article in the entire catalogue of furniture, go right straight to Dick Dorr at Schwab's furniture emporium, with a little pile of money and get a big pile of the very thing you want.

Having sold my stock of goods to Mr. J. W. Shaw, I now retire from the mercantile business in Marion, I desire to thank the good people of this and surrounding counties for their very liberal patronage in the past. I heartily recommend my successor in business to the confidence of the people and hope my old friends and customers will stand by him. I want to get all of my outstanding business closed up. All parties owing me either notes or accounts will find me at the old stand.
Please call at once and settle. In event of my absence Mr. R. E. Pickens is authorized to collect and receipt you. Very Respy
G. C. Gray.

Base Ball.

Cridders base ball club, of this place, and a picked nine out of the county, composed of Levis, Repton and Iron Hill clubs combined, crossed bats at this place last Saturday.

The Cridders and some terrible slugging all through the game, Clark's hit to right being the feature of the game. The picked nine also did some slugging, Stevens carrying off the batting honors for them. The Cridders were a little off at times,
and especially in the fifth inning, allowing the visitors five runs. The decisions of umpire Stevens were good, and the game went off smoothly. The Cridders will cross bats with the Princeton club at this place next Saturday, and the small sum of 10c will be charged at the gate, ladies

LIVE AND LET LIVE,

FARM FIELD & GARDEN

THE GLUTEN IN WHEAT.

Relative Proportions Between the Gluten and Starch in Various Waxes.

The relative proportion between the gluten and starch differs in different countries, and also on different soils, but the gluten being for the most part the valuable of the two, any slight increase in its percentage would greatly improve the wheat. The wheat in large proportions, and in many parts of the world they are sought eagerly for seed. But explains American cultivators, a wheat that has been grown on the virgin soil of the northwest, where the rich nitrogenous matter has been collecting for centuries. Wheat grown upon the virgin soil of this country is so much superior to that of many other countries that 100 pounds of it will go further to sustain the strength of workmen than 150 pounds of wheat from Australia and other countries.

The object of cultivating wheat, though to increase the quantity of gluten, and the application of manure for this purpose has not yet been definitely settled. The fertilizer that will produce the best crop of wheat does not always produce the greatest amount of gluten. Virgin soil, however, is the soil, when cultivated, that contains the essentials for producing a high percentage of this constituent, and anything that will tend to keep the soil up to this standard is good.

A great deal also depends upon the wheat. That the wheat is specially adapted by the character of the soil for wheat growing may be shown by a curious result of sowing foreign seeds there. The round variety of wheat contain a loss amount of gluten than the elongated, but when these same round seeds are sown in the soil of the west they gradually become elongated, increasing the amount of gluten as they change in shape. Flour made from wheat rich in gluten is never the whitest, but it has rather a creamy tint. The mistaken idea among many is that the whiter the flour is the better it must be. It may make the whitest bread, but it does not contain the largest percentage of gluten, which is the constituent of the wheat that goes to make muscle and strength.

In regard to applying manure, however, says the authority quoted, barnyard manure, short and well rotted, is always of value in increasing the percentage of gluten. Commercial manures that are abundant with nitrogenous matter are good, but they should always be used along with superphosphate. The phosphoric acid in the latter tends to increase the amount of gluten in the wheat and to benefit the growth considerably in other ways. This combination should not be ignored, for it is very important.

Some Points About Pulled Wool.

Pulled wool is the name that is given to the wool that is pulled from the skin or pelt of the slaughtered animal. This unwashed wool pulled from the carcass of a dead animal is distinguished as dead pulled wool. Few farmers or shepherds are aware of the large amount of this description of wool produced and manufactured in this country or of the fact that in the manufacture of certain goods the result obtained by their use cannot be produced by any other kind. Of pulled wool, it is said, stocks in the leading markets are at this time unusually light, and manufacturers are finding it difficult to obtain a supply. According to Dr. Brewster's report on this description of our own production, as our importations of this wool are very small, the majority of those coming in on the skins, in which condition their value is a secondary and not a primary consideration. Pullers, since the first of the year, have been kept unusually busy and report that they have had a smaller number of skins during the past year than for several previous years.

As stated by the authority above quoted, formerly the major part of our pulled wool was produced in the east, but since sheep began to be slaughtered in the west instead of being shipped alive the industry has rapidly declined in the east, particularly in New York. It is further said that Armour and Swift each pull about 3,000 skins a day, and that Swift has increased the capacity of his factory so that hereafter the output will be about 5,000 skins instead of 3,000 as heretofore.

One additional reason, which may be given for the present scarcity of these wools in eastern markets is the increasing consumption in the middle states. Swift reports that about four-fifths of the wools pulled in his factory last year were taken by western manufacturers.

He Swallows Live Frogs.

A man with one of the most curious propensities lives in Shelton, Conn. He has acquired an appetite for live bullfrogs, and swallows them with the same ease he would swallow the most delicious morsel that ever was cooked. The man's name is John Stowe, and he is employed by Austin Harris. Stowe has been a resident of Shelton only a few years, but it was not until recently that his appetite for bullfrogs became known. One day within a week he laid a wager that he could swallow a frog alive, and was at once taken up.

Wednesday the bet was made on a bet of one dollar, live parties being present. The first one that was brought to him was too large to work down his throat, and he selected one from a creek on the Harris farm small enough to go down. He placed the frog head first in his mouth, squeezed the remainder in with his fingers, and in an instant the amphibious animal was out of sight and probably jumping around his stomach. The story of the feat of once spread, and within a few days there were a number of doubting Thomases who, notwithstanding the undoubted integrity of the many witnesses, did not believe that Stowe could swallow a live frog of their selection.

Stowe was willing to try the thing again, and, winning, so to speak, to his friend, took another bet and appointed the day. On Monday the second frog was swallowed, and the witnesses present were again astonished. Stowe is ready at any time to swallow a frog on a bet, and as frogs are numerous at present in some of the ditches from which workmen with whom he comes in contact. He says he does not feel any bad effect, as they are dead shortly after landing in the stomach. The food, he says, is excellent, and people eat much worse things every day. They are just as good as live oysters or live clams, or even live scallops. —Baltimore Sun.

A newspaper in the Gypsy Jargon, the Romany tongue, is soon to be published in England with the expectation of making it the organ of the wandering people. It will be edited by George Smith, the "king" of the English Gypsies, who counts upon getting 20,000 subscribers to it.

Playing Possum with Death.

Mrs. Devine, a widow, of Cornwall, N. Y., was visiting Sunday, having her two little girls, Nora and Janie, aged respectively six and four years, alone in the house. Half an hour later Mrs. Benton, the wife of a neighboring farmer, saw the children sitting on the grass under an apple tree, striking every few moments at something on the ground. After each stroke they screamed with laughter.

Mrs. Benton's curiosity was aroused, and she crossed the road to see what was amusing them. As she approached them Nora cried gleefully, "Big worm plays possum with us." She had hardly ceased speaking when half the length of a great green snake crawled out of the hole in the direction of the children. Two sentences descended shortly upon it and the only head was quickly pulled back.

Mrs. Benton called to her husband, who was watching the child, and he went and dragged the little girl away from the hole. Mr. Benton arrived just as the snake looked out again to see what had become of them. The farmer's stick fell upon his head and he went back to work. The body was very nearly four feet long. Mrs. Devine faint and refused to be comforted because their playmate was dead. —Hartford Post.

Robert, the Waiter, Is Dead.

On Thirty-fifth street is a little low browned chop-house. The place seats but thirty people. The walls are smoked and dingy and exude odors of 10,000 bygone clays and roasted cheese cutlains. The waiters are dressed each other on the dirty walls and have that peculiarly indistinct look of the work of the old masters.

Yet, forbidding as this would appear, this place is not for its choice morsels and is frequented by the swiftest mount-town. Among the familiar belonging to the face of Robert, the single waiter, is seen no more. Robert is dead. Robert was a waiter among waiters. He never forgot. He knew a thousand names by sight. He sized persons faster up by a sort of instinct. He was never abusive, but took your tip graciously.

That he made from five to twenty dollars a day, did Robert. He averaged $200 a month and he had a monopoly. But Robert is dead, good fellow, and gone where tips are not recognized. He is not forgotten, however, by any means, for in the morning, over your Welsh rabbit and telly of ale, you will hear many stories of the dead waiter whose face so long seemed a part of the place. —New York Herald.

A Dream That Lasted Last Night.

What's in a dream? Nothing, of course, say most people, and specially those practically inclined. Sometimes their faith in this statement is somewhat shaken, however. Such was the case with an Augusta, Me., woman. She had lost a pair of shoes several months before, but the incident had passed from her mind, when of an afternoon she fell asleep on the sofa and dreamed that she had discovered the shoes were about the sofa. Walking, she began to grope around. Finally she started to look under the sofa, and just as she placed her hand on the carpet she remarked, "What a fool I am." At that instant her hand came in contact with the scissors, which had lain under the carpet since it was put down.—Exchange.

Maine and Her Mackeral.

The advent of mackerel upon the Maine coast and into its countless little bays, coves and gulches is an excitement and a feeling of security against poverty and the coming winter. The good people all hasten to salt down a barrel of fish to each family, and with pork and potatoes in the cellar they feel that they can in a measure prepare for the winter. The old saying in Scripture, "eat, drink and be merry," in these Maine villages visited by the silver tribes there is an odor of cooking mackerel emanating from every cottage, and the summer visitor may reckon on getting all the fish and more, that he wants. It is at such times that the boarding house keeper makes something on his people who pay him only a dollar a day.—Boston Herald.

Too Clean for the Good.

While laboring under the misapprehension that it was counterfeit, the cashier of a large store on Main street refused to receive a two dollar bill that had merely been disinfected by a judicious use of soap and carbolic acid. The bill was clean, and therefore looked upon with suspicion. Its genuineness was subsequently established by the Charter Oak bank exchanging it for another bill. Would it not be better if storekeepers and the public in general would refuse to receive bills which are so soiled as to suggest at sight the need of disinfection, and accept of that which is to be handled?—Hartford Courant.

Milk and a Fire Extinguisher.

Lightning recently struck the flagpole on the Eastford hotel, at Oxford, Md., a large building which was formerly the Maryland Military and Naval academy, and set fire to the cupola, causing much destruction among the guests and threatening to destroy the house. This would have been the case but for the rain which was falling at the time and the efforts of the proprietor, who used milk as an extinguisher. It is stated, in accordance with an advertisement that water will not put out fire caused by lightning. How long this antique fallacy has clouded the minds of the superstitious is not known, but that it has come down from remote times will hardly be questioned.

The hotel proprietor, believing that water would not save his premises, was at his wits' end for an effective extinguisher until he noticed a milk wagon filled with cans of the liquid, and he hurried just at the moment in front of the house, a ready-to-hand method of salvation, providentially supplied. Seizing one of the cans the nonbeliever in water lugged it to the top of the hotel and poured it on to the lightning kindled flames, and then went back for further supplies, until he had the satisfaction of seeing the hot spark smothered and the burning hotel saved. —Baltimore Sun.

More Fireproof Materials.

Another process for fireproofing combustible materials is reported from Russia, the medium being described as a paste, which is said to have been tested with most satisfactory results by the Moscow Imperial society. A slinky was built entirely of straw, and after being covered with the paste, was subjected to a hot fire, the only effect being to change the straw from a yellow to a reddish brown color without lighting or even cracking.

The society referred to has consequently made arrangements, it is said, to introduce the use of this new invention throughout the empire, considering it from every point of view as of the highest value in villages or localities where the houses are, as a rule, thatched with straw, and where fires, once started, frequently make a clean sweep of the place. The cost of the preparation is very small. —New York Telegram.
